Enduring the Unendurable by Anthony J. Marsella by Louise S. [2017, Jun 27] Amidst the scores of national and international wars that beset our times, human deaths become a tragic statistic to be used by government officials seeking political and military advantage, media seeking sensationalist news and headlines, and corporate war industries seeking yet new possibilities to increase death and destruction (e.g., the Mother of All Bombs).

In this milieu of horror, lives and life's are ignored and disregarded except by those who are victim to the egregious indifference.

I wrote this lyrical poem to remind all of us of the grief and suffering of one life caught and captive to the killing fields of Afghanistan -- A Pashtun Women.

I submit it to all as a reminder of someone's mother, sister, or cousin -- a living breathing body and mind cursed by the times to endure the unendurable. Take heed you who kill as you sit detached in war-situation rooms, corporate board rooms, and ornate offices in tufted chairs. It is upon you guilt and shame must fall. Tony https://www.transcend.org/tms/2017/06/pashtun-woman-enduring-the-unendurable/

Anthony J. Marsella, Ph.D., ProfessorEmeritus, University of Hawaii, Honolulu, Hawaii 96822

Comment by Gayle Morse by Louise S. [2017, Jun 27]

Thank you for sharing that touching poem. It really captures the pain I imagine in my mind and heart. I am grateful that you thought to share it with me.

Niawen, Gayle Gayle Skawennio Morse, PhD

Associate Professor, Licensed Psychologist

Program Director

Counseling and Community Program

309 Froman

New Scotland Avenue

Albany, NY 12208

518-292-1819

President-Elect, Society of Indian Psychologists (2017-2018) Immediate Past Chair, Board for the Advancement of Psychology in the Public Interest (BAPPI-2016)

Fellow: Division 45- Society for the Psychological Study of Culture Ethnicity and Race

Editor: Journal of Indigenous Research

Mailing Address:

Psychology Department- CCP

School of Health Sciences

The Sage Colleges

408 Gurley Hall

65 1st Street

Troy, NY 12180

Comment by Michelle Brenner by Louise S. [2017, Jun 28] Dito, we are all vulnerable, and it is so beautiful when our vulnerability is respected.

kind regards Michelle

Michelle Brenner Holistic Conflict Resolution Consultant member of Charter for Compassion http://www.charterforcompassion.com.au/

Founding member Holistic Practices Beyond Borders http://www.hpbeyondborders.org.au/

Phone Sydney Australia (02)9389 2005 mobile 04786 11244

Email: brennermichelle@hotmail.com