

He, Peiyi, Phd student clinical psychology major Fuller School of Psychology
peiyihe@fuller.edu

I am currently a Phd student in clinical psychology at Fuller School of Psychology. I began my study of psychology while in China and have been doing clinical work since 2012. While living and working cross-culturally, I pay special attention to culture, diversity, identity and how to understand people within their own cultures. I hope to grow in the community of psychologists who encourage and empower people to have thoughts and narratives of their own.