

Menon, Usha, Ph.D.
Professor, Dept. of Global Studies & Modern Languages
Drexel University
3141 Chestnut Street
Philadelphia, PA 19104.
menonu@drexel.edu

Dr. Usha Menon is Professor of Anthropology in the Department of Global Studies and Modern Languages at Drexel University in Philadelphia, U.S.A. She has written numerous articles on Hindu morality, Hindu aesthetics, folk understandings of the goddess Kali, the cultural constructions of emotions in Hindu India as well as family dynamics and gender relations in Odia Hindu society. Her publications include Women, Wellbeing, and the Ethics of Domesticity in an Odia Hindu temple town (2013). She has also co-edited Universalism without Uniformity: Explorations in Mind and Culture (2017) with Julia Cassaniti. She is currently working on antinomian thinking and behavior within Hindu sacred traditions.