

A Wonderful project needs a little help

From: Maureen O'Hara

Sent: Wednesday, September 15, 2021 6:01 PM

My Mexican family, who are cultural anthropologists in Oaxaca Mexico have dedicated their careers to helping indigenous communities restore cultural pride through community museums which showcase their art and craft. This new project links generations. If you feel you can support it with a donation every little helps. Or perhaps you can let others know by sharing the post.

https://www.globalgiving.org/projects/empowering-indigenous-youth-in-mexican-communities/?rf=fb_gt17_c_3387610&fbclid=IwAR3Xrsa455QCHUg4Ww_Ps_64hEdutbkeBUnJAoUQND084Cph9Fq1ZY5mDCs

Empowering Indigenous Youth in Mexican Communities

This project strengthens meaningful bonds between local youth and their indigenous community culture, involving participants in creative research and accurate representation of community ways of life. It is developed by a network of 20 community museums of Oaxaca in Southern Mexico, which foster cultural awareness, cohesion and a shared vision for the future. Funds raised will support online workshops during COVID restrictions, and transition to in-person activities in 5 indigenous communities.

www.globalgiving.org

Maureen O'Hara Ph. D.
Professor of Psychology
National University
760 889 9493 (mobile)