Hello everyone.

Hope this message finds you well.

Join us on Friday, May 10 at 12:00pm (PST) for a panel to discuss hemispheric approaches to Native American and Indigenous Studies with Maria Josefina Saldaña-Portillo, Shannon Speed, and I. The panelists will present their recent work and explain how it expands traditional understandings of Indigeneity in Native American and Indigenous Studies, with the goal of contributing to the development of a hemispheric framework for the discipline. Thinking across various geographic, disciplinary, and linguistic borders, presenters will also address how expansive understandings of Indigeneity can aid in the development of strong hemispheric Indigenous movements, both within and beyond academia.

The event will take place at UC Davis - 3114 Hart Hall. Refreshments will be served.

For those who cannot attend in person, the event will be livestreamed on Zoom. Virtual participants can register here:
