Dear Indigenous Policy Readers,

Hoping you are doing very well.

The Summer 2022 issue of Indigenous Policy is now available on the web at: <http://www.indigenouspolicy.org/>.

IPJ welcomes submissions of relevant articles to be refereed which are best made by going to the journal website. After reading the Author Guidelines and registering with the journal prior to submitting, log in and begin the five-step process of submitting. You can also go to: <http://www.indigenouspolicy.org/index.php/ipj/about/submissions#onlineSubmissions> to begin. One can also submit and obtain information from the Co-Editors: Mary Jo Tippeconnic Fox: foxm@arizona.edu, Karen Jarratt-Snider, Karen.Jarratt-Snider@nau.edu or Aresta Tsosie-Paddock: alorusso@arizona.edu, who will send them out for review. Author Guidelines has all the information for formatting article submissions. If you have difficulty using the website, contact the IPJ webmaster, Thomas Brasdefer.

IPJ also welcomes submissions of research notes (non-refereed articles) commentary, reviews, news, media information and announcements concerning Native American and international Indigenous affairs, issues, events, nations, groups and media. We invite commentary and dialogue in and between issues, which go to Steve Sachs, ssachs@earthlink.net.

If you would like to join the advisory council which reviews submitted articles, contact Leo Killsback, leo.killsback@montana.edu.

IPJ* has a book review committee. People wishing to review books or other media, often receiving a free copy to review, and those wishing to have a book review should send a copy, to David Weiden, Assistant Professor of Political

Science and Native American Studies, Metropolitan State University of Denver,
King Center 494, Campus Box 43, P.O. Box 173362, Denver, CO 80217-3362, 303-556-4914, dweiden@msudenver.edu.

We welcome feedback on the content and format of our issues, which best go to Steve Sachs, ssachs@earthlink.net.

May all flow in beauty.

Warmly,

Steve Stephen M. Sachs,
Senior Editor and Coordinator of the Editorial Board, IPJ.
