

Greetings DIV32 colleagues and friends,

Across many corners of the world, we continue to seek spaces that make room for the depth, complexity, and urgency of our human experiences. We're now just one week away from the Psychology and the Other Conference 2025 (September 18–21, 2025), hosted at Boston College and live-streamed globally.

As the conference draws near, our team stands ready to host you in conversations that exploring the intersection of suffering, ethics, liberation, virtue, and the human condition. Whether you are a clinician, scholar, artist, teacher, or seeker, the conference offers a space to reflect and respond — together — to the questions that animate our lives and work.

Psychology & the Other Conference video

Thanks to our oneway streaming virtual platform, you can attend all mainstage speakers (plenaries, invited addresses, and keynote sessions) via livestream, and even earn up to 22.5 CE credits if attending synchronously. Recordings will also be available after the event for registered online participants. We are honored to feature speakers such as Hortense Spillers, Judith Herman, and many others (see attached flyer) whose work invites us into deeper engagement with the psychological, spiritual, ethical, and communal!

-  Register here for virtual access: (click here)

If you have questions, feel free to reach out to us at: psychhumanities@bc.edu. We hope this gathering will offer you grounding, renewal, and community — wherever you are!

In care and solidarity,

David Goodman (Conference Co-Chair)

M. Mookie C. Manalili (Conference Co-Chair)

Sofia Rietti (Conference Co-Chair)

Kate Stone (Program Coordinator)

--

Pax Christi,

M. Mookie C. Manalili (he/him/siya)

M.A., M.T.S., M.S.W., L.I.C.S.W.